Introduction

Swansea fans heading to the Liberty Stadium during the 2016/17 season will notice a brand new hospitality suite...

Swansea Stadium Management Company, in conjunction with OSTCFX, recently announced the unveiling of their new Hospitality Suite which will be known as the OSTCFX Suite. The development of the suite took place over the summer months and was launched, along with the partnership, in advance of the 2016/17 Premier League football season and Guinness Pro12 Rugby season. Speaking in advance of the launch of the Suite the Chair of Swansea Stadium Management Company, Councillor Christine Richards, commented: "This is a very exciting development for the stadium, both in terms of the launch of this wonderful state of the art facility and, the start of a new partnership with OSTCFX, who we are delighted to work with for the coming seasons."

The partnership with OSTCFX sees the extension of an already well established and successful working relationship the company has with Ospreys Rugby and, speaking at the launch, Andrew Millward, Managing Director of the Ospreys stated that "Our relationship with OSTC, as a company, has been a fantastic success story to date and the region is delighted to be able to work with them on this exciting new venture. We are really looking forward to the opportunity to use the exceptional facilities that this lounge presents us with and I am sure that the packages we will be able to offer in the Suite will prove to be extremely popular with our corporate clients."

The development of the suite has been a result of collaboration between the Stadium Management Company, Ospreys Rugby and Swansea City Football Club, and forms part of a wider refurbishment of hospitality facilities at the Liberty Stadium. Leigh Dineen, Vice Chairman of Swansea City Football Club, added, "We are extremely proud of the facility that has been developed this summer and are sure that our guests will be equally impressed when they begin to make use of it. Swansea City received significant recognition from the Premier League and our guests of its delivery of hospitality services last season and we are very much looking forward to using this facility to build upon last season's success in 2016/17."

BetweenGlassBlinds are a leading manufacturer offering the most advanced range of integral blind systems on the UK market. Both stylish and contemporary, their range of systems provide users with a maintenance-free totally integrated privacy and shading solution without any bulky and intrusive operating mechanisms mounted on the glass surface.

Their innovative blind sits inside a hermetically sealed double glazed argon filled unit, which protects the blind from damage, dirt and grime. Meaning the blind is hygienically excellent, never needs cleaning and is completely maintenance free.

BetweenGlassBlinds are an alternative when other types of blind and curtains are not practical or achievable. Users can control the operation of the blinds with ease with the ability to raise, lower and tilt the blinds.

BetweenGlassBlinds are noted for their innovative, versatile and maintenance-free integrated blinds which are ideal for any environment, the Stadium deemed them effective over standard blinds due to the footfall in the corporate hospitality suite, they believed regular blinds would become damaged easily and constantly need replacing. BetweenGlassBlinds were supply only on this project, they were supplied to Aluminium Architectural Installations who installed the products.

Between Glass Blinds supplied 11 Sunbell battery operated motorised integral blinds which allowed the hospitality suite the convenience of motorised/remote blind control without the hassle of hard-wiring.
